Abraham Lincoln - Herndon + Weik

" The war was over, the great rebellion which for four long years had been assailing the Nation's life was quelled. Richmond, the rebel Capital was taken; Lee's Army had surrendered, and the flag of the Union was floating in reassured supremacy over the whole of the National domain - Friday, the 14th.

Andrew Johnson
His Life and Speeches
by Lillian Foster 1866 Johnson one of most hated northern leaders
by Confederates
He was threatened with assassination many times while Military Gov of Tenn 1862-64
He boldly proclaimed at that time that "conscious treason should be punished — and traitors should be hung."

Upon arriving in Nashville March 12, 1862 he deposed the City Council and sent the Clergy of the city to the Penitentiary for refusing to take the oath of allegiance — Always spoke of war as "this unholy and nefarious rebellion"

X Lincolns Opinion of Johnson:

On the day before the Meeting of the Baltimore Convention Marcus L. Ward waited on Mr Lincoln and solicited an expression of his preference as to the Vice Presidential nominee. Mr Lincoln characterized Johnson as eminently a man for all time, Capable honest, and of inflexible loyalty and indomitable will, whos selection for Vice Pres would afford him (Mr Lincoln) supreme Satisfaction

* New Military Posts
Military posts, with detachments of infantry and Cavalry, are being established in Prince George Charles, and St. Mary's Counties, Maryland for the purpose of breaking up the treasonable practices of the inhabitants, and protecting loyal men. The Officers in Command of the posts are instructed to forage on the country. A little Military rule will prove particularly wholesome to that section".
