(Copy) This is a postscript to a letter received from high authority in Washington, D. C., the original letter of this postscript is in relation to business matters and therefore is omitted.

Washington, D. C.
April 29, 1921.

P. S. I have located the story of J. Roby. It was Franklin Roby, the foreman of Scott, who first secreted Booth, and got Thomas A. Jones to put him over the river. Franklin Roby went over and made arrangements with Capt. Jett. Major Bainbridge, and Ruggles returned came back with Booth and was never heard of again.
