Dear Mr Briggs:

I had a wire Friday from Wm G Shepherd stating that you were interested in my book dealing with the assassination of Lincoln and the legends about John Wilkes Booth. Mr Cameron, Editor of the Dearborn Independent, is editing this material for me at the present time and I am having most of it retyped but hope to forward it to you within a week.

Possibly Mr Shepherd has told you that some of the chapters appeared as articles under my name in the Dearborn Independent. Since writing them, however, I have procured considerable additional material and also have been carefully checking and annotating a great number of references for the notes. The introduction has been written by Mr Charles J Finger.

Very truly yours
