August 27, 1943

Dear Mr. Kincaid:

Your suggestion of August 21st is interesting and attractive but unfortunately I am so involved in Industrial War-Time Problems that I haven't time to do the research and writing necessary for the article.

There is no question of ethics. I wrote a series of eight articles in 1925 which were published in the Dearborn Independent, Mr. Ford's magazine at that time.

When things clear up a bit, I will be delighted to get the material together for you. I fear however that that may not be until after the war is over.

A thousand thanks for your kind letter.

Yours very truly,
