June 26, 1929.

"THE HILL"
LAKE MAHOPAC, NEW YORK
TELEPHONE MAHOPAC 173

Dear Mr Black,

I tremble to think that I may have overstepped the liberty you gave me to use your material and, if so, I want to ask your forgiveness.

You'll bear me out in saying that I gave the fullest credit for anything used and but buttressed my assertions with the facts you had unearthed, claiming none of it as my own. If, for example, you should wish to make a book publication on subject any thing that I have printed would only serve to increase the reader's interest and appetite for such a publication. I hope you feel that.

Anyway, it came to me as a sort of shock that I ought to speak to you about it and apologize if I have erred. You were so gracious, so willing to aid that I should feel pretty bad not to detect it and offer sorrowful regrets.

The book goes along fairly well--- a number of people interested in Lincolniana and wartime history have written me pleasantly about it.

If you ever come this way (New York), won't you let me know so that we may meet. I should be so happy to greet you--- to show you some courtesy.

With kindest regards

Yours sincerely,

Frank H Wilson