Dear Mr Wilson:

This morning I received from Mr Allen, of Houghton Mifflin Company, the fourteen pieces of illustrative material relating to John Wilkes Booth. I also have the inscribed copy which you so kindly sent me.

I had not thought of the possibility, but with your recommendation, I might prevail upon Mr Hoover to give me the job as head of the Federal Secret Service.

Your book goes home with me tonight and certainly it will be read from cover to cover.

Please command me if there is anything at any time that I can do for you.

Very truly yours
